

CAMAIEU

To whom it may concern:

I was recently employed as Managing Director for Central and Eastern Europe for DBApparel, a company that distributes the Bellinda, Playtex and Unno brands in the central and eastern European region.

At one point I was faced with a problem when one of the key members of my management team started to perform poorly and I used Catro and its Executive Interview tool to address it.

I was extremely satisfied with the result because the Executive Interview enabled me to focus on arriving at the right decision concerning this employee.

I was very pleased with the quality and level of service provided by Catro, under the leadership of Martin Vosecký, and would be prepared to recommend this company to anyone interested in an independent assessment of its top management.

Yours sincerely,

Bernard Falin